Federal Grant Awarded for a CAREware Dashboard Reporting System

East Lansing, Mich. —

A new CAREware Dashboard Reporting System (DRS) project has been awarded as a “Special Project of National Significance (SPNS)” grant by the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) HIV/AIDS Program to the A.J. Boggs & Company through the Michigan Department of Community Health (MDCH), Division of Health Wellness and Disease Control.

In addition to maintaining and managing the CAREWare reporting servers (used by service providers throughout Michigan to record client and service records in a centralized location), AJBoggs will develop a DRS to graphically present clinical and operational performance and quality information to agency managers and staff. Working with Don Calhoun and Rebecca Bishop of MDCH, AJBoggs will develop a flexible and intuitive DRS to facilitate analysis of clinical performance and other outcome measures across all HRSA Part D programs and agencies.

The advantage of a dashboard reporting system is that it is easy to use, provides timely data, and most importantly, gives an idea as to how to go about implementing potential improvements and solutions with graphical views of the data with filters, drill-down reports, and multi-dimensional reports. The DRS will enhance the presentation of complex information and make it easier for providers to access, configure, change, and connect detailed graphical reports.

The dashboard technology will present information from Michigan’s Statewide CAREWare database so it is more accessible, intuitively summarized, and graphically powerful. The goal is to make it easier for the care providers to view and analyze measures of their service performance.
